THE 1986 CUB
Volume XLV
University High LSU
Baton Rouge, LA 70803
“Are we having fun yet?” was the understatement of the year. From August to May, U. High took its name and made everyone even prouder to be a Cub. Whether it was a championship in sports, or awards and scholarships in the academic field, U-High received much recognition. Never could anyone recall all the memories of the past year, but one thing is for sure, the Cubs will continue “Making Tracks.”
PEP RALLIES

Although the football team is on the field on Friday night, other groups help pave the way to success. Pep rallies are always an exciting part of football season. The spirit and excitement of the whole student body get the team fired up for the big game. Pep rally highlights of the year included two visits from ZVH naming the Cubs as team of the Week, a visit from a live tiger cub, entertainment from the faculty "pep band," and various contests for the members of the team.

Doug Thorpe brings a surprise visitor to a pep rally to show some real "cub" spirit.

Brian Hartley, Adam Town, Chad Leop, and Blake Coffey join co-captain Patrick Turner in celebrating the Cubs' sound victory as ZVH Team of the Week.

Mr. Norton and the pep band get the cubs and fans fired up for the game at a Friday pep rally.

The pep rally holds the attention of Elyse Boldridge, Rebecca Badley, and most of the middle school students.

While other elementary students cheer on the dome board cubs, second graders have a special message for their Senior Service Worker, Adam Town.

Maybe Yoneo's enthusiasm will spread throughout the rest of the Freshman class.
The Band, the boosters, and the rest of the devoted U-High fans cheered the Cubs all the way to the Superdome.

An Accomplishment well deserved. It was a long, hard trip to the Dome. Carrying the title of the “underdog” practically the whole way there, the Mighty Cubs opened many closed doors. It just wasn’t the title that meant everything; it was the fact that they made it that far. It was the support of everyone that helped boost their winning games. A team effort — a team accomplishment. What a feeling!

In the cold and windy streets of New Orleans, Blake Coffler and teammates stay warm with thoughts of Cub victory.

Another exciting feature of the Superdome are the two TV screens on each side of the stadium.

Questions, coordination, and determination combine to make every play "pay the right move."

This says it all!

On the day before the big game, players practice long and hard and make sure every muscle is stretched.

One gets the feeling of greatness as he glances around the immense Dome.

UNIVERSITY HIGH
CUBS

ARE DOME BOUND
COMING HOME

The festivities of Homecoming 1985 began with the high school elections for Homecoming Queen and Court. At the Student Council Homecoming Supper and Pep Rally. Dr. Fox (in his usual, wonderful manner) announced and introduced the new court. Friday morning began anew with the Booster Pep Breakfast and continued with the special pep rally at lunch. The end of the day brought rising anticipation as preparations for the big game and the court presentation were finalized.

Finally, the Event! Decana Geske, with her smiling face, accepted the crown, as the Boosters bordered the field with creamy-white fringe for the Homecoming masts and their escorts.

Though the game was over, the spirit and fun were not as Homecoming continued with the Homecoming Dance in the Civic Center Ballroom. "Jammmin'" to the sounds of WBRH, all who went agreed that Homecoming 1985 was a true reason to "COME HOME!"

Terry Williams, Sonara Ryder and her date, take a break from the jam for pictures with Christa Green and Mimi Mays.

Jan Pratt, Rachel Eglin, Margaret Guidry, and Carl Boehl pose to show off their latest Homecoming fashions.
"What did you do this time?" questions Mrs. Fairter of Aimee Jedryczewski.

"Wow! All this attention over little me!" exclaims Jennifer Guck surrounded by Chad, Scott Wharton, and Brad Fanta.

Cocoa-Sexy! Keri Denham, Diane Buddock, Helen Hebert, Susannah Fowler, Candi Gompere and Jennifer Guck show their gorgeous legs!

1985-86 Sweethearts of the Year — Shamon Downs and Dan- sy Warren. Aren't they cute?!

Kevin Fossh, Edie Biterin, Courtney Smart, Elizabeth Blackwell, and John Walsh - the senior gang celebrates the last homecoming.

All eyes are on... what? Something has definitely caught the attention of Diane Buddock and her date.

Teresa Hayes shows her friends and Keith Gibson how it's done, as she dances and pops a bubble gum to the rhythm of the music.
CATCHING THE

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT!

The kids' good behavior turned out to be worthwhile this year. Santa brought a new toy for us to play with at the Christmas dance, and everyone enjoyed the one. It was a video machine. Not only were our favorite songs played, but each had a video to accompany it.

But, this wasn't the only thing significant about the 1985 Christmas dance. It was the first dance that had a "look" on it. Once everyone came to the dance by 9:00, they were required to stay until 10:30. This was an attempt to increase the amount of people attending the dance, and the length of time they stayed.

The Party-Pic was there, flashing everyone's favorite photos, and the decorative gypsy pleased everyone once again.

The dance was a pleasant way to begin our holidays — and that indeed it did.

The seniors créer memories at their last Christmas Dance. They smile for the camera as thoughts of Wendy's dance in their heads.

How did Robyn B. and Laura P. get in with all those junior girls!
What can we do? ... more paint? ... you were supposed to buy the posters ... lockers ... beachballs ... boxes and speakers ... U-High Shuffle ... trash 'em ... Insult, Outside, UHS! ... Junior Olympics ... Ice Cream ... UHS-Go Cubs — Fight! Fight! Fight!

The Mardi Gras celebration continued as school began with the first day of Spirit Week. Posters went up on the hallway walls as freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors anticipated with excitement the events to come. While working diligently to complete the posters and locker stickers for the final competition, day led to night as the junior olympics drew near. The time arrived and each class competed in the games. Ice cream sundaes followed as a final treat. Friday dawned with the students recited as natives, surfers, carhuggers, and stuffin' krewe. The fun and spirit increased as the chants and cheers were performed. Climbing the day was the judge's final decision — "... and the winners are the seniors!"

The native seniors cook up some "Double, Double, and trouble" for the Dogs.
After six hours Wesley White, Dr. Hope, and the other members of the decorating committee were finally finished. The purple and blue balloons and streamers, the crepe-paper bridge backdrop, and much time and effort were put forth to make “Puttin’ On The Ritz” live up to U-Fligh students’ expectations. From deciding a theme, to electing a court, Student Council began Winter Formal arrangements weeks before the actual event. While each class selected the designated number of court members in advance, the announcement of King Danny Warren and Queen Shannon Downs was not made until after the court was presented the night of Winter Formal.
SURFIN’ UHS — TWIRP 1986

The surf was up or at least everyone’s spirits were Friday, May 9, 1986, was when it all took place. This year’s TWIRP Dance had somewhat of a change of pace. Our music was provided by our very own DJ’s, Reggie Berry and Patrick Turner. The dress was beach attire and the people, pure breds. This is the only dance where the female leads the way and by making it the last dance of the year, it will long be remembered.

Andy, Kerrie, Angele and Jason seem more than ready for the hula.

CUB FACULTY

Despite major setbacks at L.S.U., University Laboratory School gained ten outstanding new teachers this year. Our faculty has helped make this school extremely competitive, academically. With the cheery atmosphere that they display, the faculty is always willing to participate in outside school activities. We'd like to say thank-you to our very special teachers that give us the inspiration to learn throughout the year.

Our principal, Dr. Jim Fox, and assistant principal, Dr. Jim Hope.

THOSE SPECIAL SENIORS...

At University High School, twelve seniors are elected by their classmates to be the Senior Specials of the year. These students receiving the honor have been outstanding in academics, leadership, service, cooperation, and athletics. These special seniors contribute to their senior class and to the school in every aspect of student life. This is why these twelve seniors best represent the class of 1986.

- Wesley White — National Honor Society, V.P. President
- Lisa Hightower — Cheerleader

National Merit Finalists

A list for U-High

Of the sixty-six seniors at UHS, an incredible 9% received the honor of being named National Merit Finalists in 1986. From students all over the nation who take the test, only one half of one percent are chosen as finalists. With that figure UHS should have only one National Merit Finalist every three years, this year we had 5.

The selection began in the fall of 1984. UHS juniors who wanted to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, almost a year later U-High was informed that six of the class of '86 had scored high enough to be semi-finalists. The two girls and four boys then completed an application to become finalists. Dr. Fox included an evaluation of each. Spring brought the good news: all six had made the cut and were named finalists. Six National Merit Finalists in one class shatters all previous records. U-High had for this honor. It was a proud moment for the school and for the six students.

JUNIORS

Traditions kept alive: ordering class rings, panicking over the ACT/SAT, and looking into colleges. Occupied with these, athletics, and the usual academic "stuff," Juniors took on responsibility and leadership which led to a personal growth and class maturity. The 1985-86 junior class was well represented in leadership with Rani Whifield, Class Pres.; Shauna Ryder, French Club and Hi-Y Pres.; Britt Murrill, Cross Country Team Capt.; Chris Staechano, Hi-Y State Officer of the Press Delegation and Kelly Heston; Jennifer Walsh, Kelly Gray, and Martha Stuecky as yearbook editors. The junior girls turned everyone's head as Femme Co. and U-Babes were introduced. Femme Co. offered a calendar, and U-Babes offered Winter Formal, St. Patrick's Day, and Easter cups. The daily routine became tolerable as the Juniors got the hang of things and began anticipating their senior year.

Their goal of graduation just two years away, the sophomores attacked their challenge with great enthusiasm. Although academic studies took most of their time, they still found time for worthwhile projects, such as the pumpkin sale, initiated by Lloyd Brown. They never forgot the saying, “All work and no play makes the sophomores a dull class.”

The eighth grade has successfully combined fun with learning. From a social studies food festival, where they tasted foods from each of the 64 parishes, to tracing their family trees, the eighth grade experienced a new style of education. Their extracurricular activities began during football season with the eighth grade cheerleading squad promoting Cub spirit, and continued with history field trips planned by a committee of students. The eighth grade also participated in the Middle School Student Council. and finished the year on a good note with the "End of the Year" dance and a perspective outlook on the start of their high school days.

Seventh grade: the middle of the road through junior high. Because the seventh grade is such a difficult year, the students were determined to have fun. With the help of the teachers and the Middle School Student Council, the students were able to enjoy various activities. In the spring, the students went on an overnight camping trip at Camp Win-a-Friend, the State Police Boys' Camp in Holden, Louisiana. There, the seventh graders indulged themselves with such adventures as taking a canoe trip down the Tickfaw River and telling ghost stories by a campfire. The students also had fun wrapping teachers in toilet paper at the Turkey Strut—the Middle School party.

The seventh graders learned, though, that school is not all play through assignments like reading The Pignan and writing short stories. Some students had to write bills for Junior Youth Leg—a youth legislature program sponsored by Campfire and held every year in January. While at times the difficulties of the seventh grade seemed trying, the middle schoolers made the 1982-83 school year enjoyable and memorable.

Taking their first steps into middle school, the sixth graders are coming to play a more dominant role in the U-High atmosphere. Creating their own kind of fun, the sixth graders organized and executed their own study groups, a tutorial program for first and second graders, the Collage, and a food and toy drive. Some students participated in the high school's swimming and cross-country teams. The sixth grade's dedication and perseverance was not only an asset to themselves but to the school as well.

UNITY, SERVICE, and QUALITY

The student council is a group of students composed of elected officers, presidents of classes, class representatives, and presidents of the various clubs. They started off the year with an ice cream party for everyone to meet and get together. Under the leadership of president Michael Bahn, the student council sponsored several successful dances. The Christmas dance, Homecoming, Winter Formal, and T.W.I.R.P. The student council is a club designed to serve. It is indeed a club of unity.

Jena explains to her sanitation crew the plans for spirit week.

Near the end of 1984-85, National Honor Society held a banquet to induct twelve new members into its prestigious organization. Since then those twelve seniors plus a new junior have assumed new responsibilities. First officers Michael Kantrow, Wesley White, and Deanna Geske were elected in the fall. Then NHS sponsored a jacket sale (with Deanna Geske as the coordinator) and raised several hundred dollars. From September, continuing throughout the year, Cub Citizens of the Month were selected. Each month NHS reviewed nominations from the faculty and student body, and then chose one middle school student and one high school student to be Cub Citizens of the Month. The winners were awarded gift certificates to McDonald's. Spring arrived bringing several new members inducted at the 1985 banquet on March 12. With the help of sponsor, Mr. Gamer, National Honor Society completed a successful 1985-86 year.

NHS member Deanna Geske and sponsor Mr. Gamer take their job seriously.

For someone a National Honor Society member is the highest honor given at U-High because of the tough entrance requirements of the organization. Second semester juniors and seniors are considered only if they have a cumulative 3.5 grade point average. The faculty evaluates those students on the four qualities of citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and service. From club activities, sports, the classroom, or any other contact a faculty member has had with a student, he judges the mantle to the four categories. The titles few chosen to be members are indeed hallowed.
The Movers and Shakers of Hi-Y

Under the leadership of Shauna Ryder (Pres.) and Scott Arenas (V. Pres.) Hi-Y had an outstanding year. The club focused around preparing and sending delegates to Youth's Legislature. In order to attend "Leg," members had to earn points by participating in club activities and write an essay. Those chosen were allowed to attend the three-day conference.

The delegation from U-High stood out among other schools as Art Fisher and Andy Laive served as an Attorney Team, Christine Sciaichetano as the editor of the Legislative Times, and a bill written by Kelly Longwell and Susannah Fowler was signed by the Youth Governor.

Although "Leg" was the focal point of the club, members also participated in other activities such as the running of the concession stand, helping at the LSU Book Fair, and their annual crawfish boil. With both hard work and fun involved, the 1985-86 Hi-Y club really did some moving and shaking!

Jennifer Walsh works diligently to meet her deadline for the Legislative Times; the Youth Leg newspaper.

Leaving the Capitol, Karen Wickersham pulls together the story printed for the newspaper.

One wonders what was said during the meet; it seems to have left Sahara Ryder and Kelly Gray with their mouths open.

UNITEENS  BOUND IN SISTERHOOD!

The Uniteens, an all-girl service club, have achieved many goals this year. Uniteens started the year with a Sadie Hawkins' cake walk and ended the year with a Banana Split Party. During the year "Big Stick!" Started a program to help the newcomers adjust to high school, operated full time. Bernie Moore cleaned up along with keeping the courtyard tidy are just a few of the many jobs to which Uniteens contributed. With the fun freshman, the sassy sephorres, the jolly juniors, and the sweet seniors Uniteens had a year to remember.

KEY CLUB: MEN OF THE FUTURE

This year Key Club was busy! Their schedule began with being volunteers at the National Sports Festival. In order to raise money, they sponsored a car wash, a bumper sticker sale, and a "Safe Halloween" coupon sale. In order to keep things real, they participated in both the Parker House clean-up as well as the cleaning of the Senior parking lot. An annual activity is helping sell Christmas trees with the Kiwanas. Key Club ended the year with a blood drive and as volunteers at the library book sale.
Dedicated Decorators

The Art Club’s involvement in school activities included painting faces at Sadie Hawkins Day and working closely with Student Council. This meant helping with such activities as decorating for Homecoming, the Christmas Party, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, Winter Formal, and Twisp. The Art Club rewarded its members with a Christmas Party at Amy McCormick’s house and an end-of-year Pizza Party. Activities outside school included a McDonald’s window painting contest. One committee of art students represented U-High in the East Baton Rouge Parish contest.

Special Days

Three special days — Student/Teacher Reversal Day, P.E. Fan Day, and Enslave a Sophomore Day — helped make this a unique school year. On Student/Teacher Reversal Day, high-school students took on the task of instructing both high-school and middle-school teachers. While students dressed and taught like the instructor they were replacing, the teachers insulted the students. Certain teachers were sent to the office and were sentenced to yard duty by the new principal and vice-principal.

P.E. Fan Day was an afternoon filled with games to provide competition between the high-school classes. Enslave a Sophomore Day was designed to raise money for the Sophomore class, but ended up being fun. Sophomores were sold as slaves for a day to whomever wanted to buy them. They did such tasks as carry books, clean out lockers, and bring lunch to their “mistress.”

Mrs. Alexander has the attention of all the P.E. Fan Day.

Jon Breitenus (Dr. Hopp) and Reggie Berry (Dr. Foo) watch as the ubiquitous student rakes leaves.

Finally realizing he punishment for disrupting class and throwing spitballs, Stephen Delormeaux (student) serves the time sentenced by “Dr. Berry” and “Dr. Breitenus” by raking leaves.

Being handcuffed is only part of the pain Art Fisher had to suffer on Enslave a Sophomore Day.

Vive Le Club Francais

Bonjour! With sponsor Madame Harris and the 1985-86 officers, the U-High French Club participated in fun experiences such as visiting the Acadiana Festival in Lafayette, having a pot luck lunch with the Spanish Club, and sponsoring the traditional Cokes-bag game at Sadie Hawkins' Day. The French Club also volunteered to work at the AFS Lomaxade and Football Convocation Stands to raise scholarship money, gave a Christmas food basket to a needy family, and attended the State French Convention. Le Congres.

Le Congres was attended by twenty-four members who entered the cheer competition, talent show, scholarship competition, and elections. Christine Staciehattam was elected the chairperson of the Region IV paroles.

After Le Congres, the French spent a fun time with the hostel of foreign exchange student for Mardi Gras by U-High families and a celebration with a French Club Mardi Gras party. Students also enjoyed a dinner of true French cuisine at the Wok and Wisk, which led to the final activity, foreign language week. The traditional "What everyone should know about France" signs were up as well as the daily announcements in French and the cafeteria French Day! A new twist was added as French Club members adopted elementary "buddy" classes and celebrated foreign language week with them. Monsieur Gomez, the U-High CODAFL teacher, was a great addition to the French Club and helped the members and officers (president — Shauna Ryder, vice-president — Andrea Williams, secretary/treasurer — Laura Parker, scrap-book editor, Sarah Downing) have a great year. Au revio!

A little fun mixed with French never hurt, right Kelly?

El Presidente!

After discussing the proposed idea, it looks like the "ly" have it.

Led by President Scott Philippau, the Spanish Club continued to participate in its usual activities including Sadie Hawkins and holding parties while its focus was on Foreign Language Week. Held during the spring semester, Foreign Language Week is a project to make students more aware of the Spanish culture. This year, the club planned activities for its members including observing Spanish classes at LSU and eating at a Mexican restaurant for lunch.

As advisor, Mrs. J. offers ideas for possible club activities.
Mu Alpha Theta is an honorary mathematical organization. Members may have maintained a B average in four semesters of academic math courses to be invited to join. The club sponsors math-related activities. These include contests within the school and competitions at other schools in the state.

The Algebra I team for the New Iberia competition was John Heroman, Nicole Pollett, Scott Hobert, and Michael Raggo.

In bowl competition at New Iberia are Shauna Roder, Scott Watson, Karroll Payer, and Liz Delas.

The Middle School Student Council was extremely busy this past year with the many activities that they sponsored. The year began with selling Mr. Brandy's candy. A Thanksgiving party for the Middle School students took place. Also in November, some of the Middle School Student Council officers attended LASC in Alexandria to learn more about student council. In December, MSSC was busy with the toy and food drive for the less fortunate and also with selling donuts during mid-term exams. After the holidays, they sold carnations for Valentine's Day. In March, MSSC sponsored a St. Patrick's Day party followed by a picnic in April. To recognize the teachers, the MSSC bought pot plants for each teacher. The last of the year's activities was the final exam week donut sale.

All of the Middle School Student Council members worked hard to plan and organize so many events. It was a great experience for the entire Middle School. Hopefully, this year's activities of the Middle School Student Council will pave the way to success in the years to come.

"This is your yearbook." With this in mind, the yearbook staff has tried to make a yearbook that would really please you. Under the guidance of Mrs. Barton and Mrs. O'Brien, and editors Jennifer Walsh, Kelly Gray, Holly Hutson, and Martha Stuckey, the yearbook staff attempted to achieve this goal through several additions and changes in the yearbook. One addition was four color pages of high school candid shots. Another was the use of many varied layouts and tool lines. These are just a couple of the ways that we have tried to make the yearbook more pleasing to you. Many thanks to all the dedicated people who have worked on the yearbook with us. A special thank you goes to Dr. Davis, Wesley White, John Badlley, and art students who helped out with graphic design. We also owe a debt of gratitude to Sharon Dotson from Taylor Publishing Co. who was always there to help whenever we needed her.

Karrol Payne decides to play with the ruler instead of drawing her layout.

With smiling faces, the dance group started their year at dance camp held at McNeese University. Besides experience, dance group members came back with many varied dance routines. Starting the season with a dance at Episcopal High, the dance team continued what hours of practice had taught them. Throughout the football season, including an appearance at the Superdome, and into the basketball season, the 1985-86 Dance Team entertained the many Cub fans.

Bewildered by the extremely hot weather, "The Dance," Wendy Hall wonders if she can make it through the night's performance.

Reproducing the long hours of practice, Beth, Jodie, and Susannah entertain the Cub fans.

Taking her turn, Trisha performs for the Pep Rally crowd.

For all the ups and downs, Lee and Sarah know that this was worth waiting for.

In line and ready to perform for the Super Dome crowd, the dancers make their way onto the field.

The practicing, the dancing, the posing — all scheduled in Jodi, Diane and Elizabeth's day.
CHEERLEADERS

Danielle "Sparky" Gueho — 11th
Merle "Spify" Lauve — 12th
Lisa "Sweety" Hightower — 11th, 12th
Jule "Snappy" Thomas — 11th, 12th
Julie "Smiley" Brittenum — 10th, 11th, 12th

Led by captain Julie Brittenum, a veteran of two years, the cheerleaders worked hard to boost the spirit of Cub fans and athletes. From the spring election through hours of practice and countless pep rallies and games, the eight girls kept smiling. Not only did the whole group have to learn new cheers for the year, but returning cheerleaders had to teach the five newcomers the old ones, too. The rookies’ enthusiasm and excitement made teaching the cheers an easier job for the veterans. Eventually the girls became a team and finished a year of which to be proud.

It’s Friday night at Bernie Moore, and Lisa Hightower and Merle Lauve add their excitement to the game.

A new cheerleader this year, Shannon Sullivan, helps to raise the spirit of the fans and the football players.

MERLE LAUVE... LIVE AT THE SUPERDOME!

They leap in the air leaving Susan Hayes behind, trying to catch up.

All together now — The precision of Danielle Gueho, Julie Brittenum, Merle Lauve, Kim Baker, and Lisa Hightower is not unusual for this adept group.
It was like we were part of the team and the athletes treated us like we were. They are good friends who let us share in the excitement of going to the Superdome."

— Leigh Anne Neeterville

I was so excited when I got sponsor that I could not believe it. It was a lot of hard work at first but it paid off in the end. Being a sponsor is so much fun that you don’t even realize the work involved." — Shannon Downs

True, there is plenty of hard work involved in the duties of being a sponsor.

Leigh Anne and Shannon have prepared gallons of Quick Kix grist away oozes of poppy-salad favors, and have written hundreds of spirit ideas for the U-High team. These loyal fans clean up after every practice and have learned to put up with the tempers of the team, as well as share in their joys. We asked Leigh Anne and Shannon if they had any regrets about being those loyal sponsors and Leigh Anne answered, “No, it was well worth it.” Shannon seemed to say, “We were one big happy family. Don’t believe that being a sponsor was an awful job because it is not true. It was very rewarding and exciting.”

Event though the weather was heavy, Shannon and Leigh Anne remained happy.

The team could always turn to these smiling faces for inspiration.
CUBS IN CONCERT

From the first rehearsal in August to the last performance in May, the University High Band worked hard all year to achieve high musical standards and a spirit of unity. Many long hours of practice went into preparation for the various performances by the Pep Band, the Concert Band, and individual students.

The Pep Band performed for all pep rallies, home football games, and the play-off games. Who can forget the sound of "Barbara Ann"?

The Concert Band performed two concerts—one at Christmas and one for the Spring PTA meeting. They performed at the District IV Band Festival and the Panas City Beach Festival of Champions. Individual students also performed in the All-Panas Band and in Solo and Ensemble Festival.

Because of the time spent in preparation, before and after school, during lunch, and in eighth-hour class, the band can be proud of its many and varied accomplishments this past year.

The crowd goes wild. Once again, various volunteers in the Pep Band stand and attempt to perfect what the fans are waiting to hear. FIGHT! Under the supervision of Mr. Scott Norton, the 1985-86 Pep Band entertained students with their repertoire including "Barbara Ann" and the "U-High Alma Mater." Playing at pep rallies, football games, and at "The Dome" for the State Championship in football, the Pep Band lived up the high expectations that everyone had set.

Always ready to entertain, Leslie Harris and Annexe J. warm up below the stage.

While some members warm up and others watch attentively, Tee Cunningham and Tracey Hayes join the crowd's cheering.

MIXED CHOIR

Under the direction of Mrs. Penny Hallman, the U-High Mixed Choir had another fantastic year, performing at St. Joseph's Cathedral at Christmas, competing at the District and State Music Festivals, and finally, presenting The Pirates of Penzance in the spring.

Mixed Choir Officers: Bob Barton, vice president; Kelly Lengwell, Scott Philabaum, president; Roni Whiffen, treasurer; Chris Newell, secretary; Ashley Hallman, rebechaum.

Treble Choir

While the Treble Choir performed at St. Joseph's Cathedral at Christmas, competed in the district and state music festivals, and were the poleresen in "Pirates," the Ensemble entertained at nursing homes, at Asphodel Plantation; and at "Hollydays," a Junior League benefit.

From the beginning of the year, "I've got to make this a successful season. They had to play outstanding defense so that our offense could be functional."

Not only did the Cubs have to play an excellent football game, but they had to stick together through many hardships. There were injuries and illnesses throughout the whole season. Instead of these trials weakening the Cubs, they seemed to strengthen their determination to do well.

THE U-CREW — MAKING TRACKS

It was a SLOW start, but the wait for success was well worth it! With the loss of a few players, due to injuries, the many dedicated fans made up the difference. The Cubs continued "Making Tracks," placing their hardships behind. The Cubs momentum was SMOOTH, and this led to a place in the Top 24. St. John was the game that got us the wild card. But the streak faded as we lost to Grambling 86-49 — second place in state, first place in our hearts!

The Lady Cubs displayed much character and growth under the enthusiastic leadership of Coach Joanna Farber. It was a young team, with only one Senior and very few team members with any previous experience. We look for the 1987 team to continue "making tracks" that were started this year.
BASKETBALL

9th Grade

Sports activities begin early for Lab School athletics. In seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, both the boys’ and girls’ teams start playing basketball. Coaches Maddox, Farr, and Farber teach the players the basics of the game. All of these school teams compete with other schools in a regular season. Everyone gets to play. This experience lays the groundwork for the success of the JV and Varsity teams.

FIELD AND TRACK — 1986

The 1986 track season at University High was exceptionally well. With only eleven members graduating, UHS track has a promising future. This year the girls had a new assistant coach, Mrs. Joanna Farber, to help Mr. Steve Delsane. The boys were under the leadership of Coach Siri and Coach Farr.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross Country is running up and down hills, through mud puddles, and under the hot sun. Led by their coach—Mr. Delacroix—the boys made an amazing comeback from their slow start. They won District, then moved on to capture the state title. The boys who ran in the state meet were Brian Southwick, placing 3rd, Brian Harville, 9th, Britt Marrill, 10th, Doyle Fontenot, 11th, Wesley Benedict, 13th, Tom Ahlen, 20th, and Eric Raby, 24th. The girls team, with many young members, was known as the “kiddie crew.” They placed 5th in the state meet. The girls that participated in that meet were: Catherine Gammen, placing 9th; Aimee Jendrezewski, 29th; Alison Jendrezewski, 45th; Elise Bateman, 48th; Susan Tuley, 51st; Jan Wickersham, 52nd; and Robin Conly, 53rd.

The Ball’s in Our Court!

The 1985-86 tennis team under the sponsorship of Mr. Auer had an exciting season. With twenty-six members, the team used its weekday practices and matches to spring into the regional tournament and move on to the state tournament. Fifteen members received varsity letters, and awards for Most Improved Girl, Most Improved Boy, and Most Valuable Player went to Stacey Hill, Michael Hackett, and Ted Jones.

Off To A Big Splash...

The University High swim team had quite an exciting season this year. Under the coaching of Mrs. Ingrapia and Mrs. Wickersham, both the girls and the boys' teams participated in three conference meets, the city meet, and the state meet. The girls took second place in each of their conference meets, and the boys took second and third places. In the city meet, held at LHS's stadium, the girls took third of sixteen teams, and the boys placed second of sixteen teams. Individual winners were Liz Dolan, Robert Begg, Andrew Roberts, and Shannon Price. Liz Dolan placed first in both the 50 and 100 meter free. Liz set a new record in the 100 free, breaking the old one set previously by Laura Hallin. Shannon Price placed first in the 100 breast, and also set a new record. Andrew Roberts placed first in both the 100 back and the 200 free, and Robert Begg placed first in the 100 fly. The men's 400 meter free relay (Andrew Crawford, Terence Roche, Robert Begg, and Andrew Roberts) also placed first.

The state meet was held in New Orleans at the UNO pool. The girls placed fourth, and the boys fifth. At this meet, LHS's strength was again shown by Dolan, Roberts, Begg, and Price. First place winners were Dolan in the 50 and 100 free, Price in the 100 breast, and Roberts in the 100 back. Roberts also placed second in the 50 free by .35 of a second, and Begg took second in the 100 fly. The girls' 400 free relay placed fourth, and the men's placed third. High-point winners for the year were Liz Dolan and Robert Begg.

Michael Barrett, Aaron Elbet, Scott Pettman, and Burak Aras show their UHS spirit.

Just take a few breaths before doing her flip turn.

Jessie Martin pops out of the water to see what she has to do next.

Holly, Shannon, and Amber take time to smile for the camera.

"This isn't so tight," says Terence Roche to Coach Wickersham.

Bobby Newman couldn't read The Writing on the Wall.

Bobby is in the eighth grade now and on the honor roll. But that wasn't always the case.

It started about a year ago when Peg Andrews, Bobby's teacher, noticed that her student's grades were falling and he was becoming increasingly hostile and argumentative with the other students in the classroom. Something was wrong, very wrong.

After speaking to the boy's parents, Peg learned that at home, Bobby was silent and uncommunicative and had been hanging around with a group of older boys.

Further investigation revealed Peg's initial fears — Bobby and his friends were using drugs and it was affecting his attitude, his schoolwork, his behavior. In fact, his entire personality.

On Dr. S's suggestion, Bobby's parents took him to Parkland Hospital where professional therapists were on hand. Bobby could receive help.

Parkland Hospital is an A+ student and a happy, healthy young man. All it took was someone to see the symptoms and take action — and a facility here in Louisiana that can help people like Bobby. Or you. Or me.

If you or someone you know has a problem, don't give up — get help. Call Parkland Hospital at 1-800-927-9250 24 hours a day.

IT’S COME TO THIS!

Valedictorian Julie Thomas draws laughter from everyone with her comment, “It’s been great watching Dr. Fox age, es. I mean mature, over the past twenty years at H.H.”

Wick Robertson tries on his cap for size and shades for his image.

Bob Barton, Mike Babie and Ann Haight crowd around the crab table trying to place one more bet before the auction begins.

C'mon girls, it's time for pictures. Let's get lined up in order of height, now.

Ty Hartung and Susan Easiely are ready for the big auction—money and bid sticks in hands.

Charlie Soderbergh and Robyn Beemert express both signs of joy and sadness as bittersweet come to an end and graduation near. Mark Redding seems sauced with it all.

Leslie McKenica waves her cap and gown, proclaiming, “We made it!” Susan Laveyne and Ann Haight tell Eliee Baltman, “Yes, Eliee, your dress looks great!”

Breakfast is served as dawn and an evening of celebration draw near.

Dranna Griske, Ashley Ward and Ann Haight are three happy ladies at the Faculty Club reception following graduation exercises.

Dr. Fox has presented the graduates class of 1986 to the assembly.

Graduation exercises have ended as pride and glee are shown on the faces of Becky Laupiet, Joe Mcintosh, and Cecielen Guedry.
Through The Year

Through the state finals in football, basketball, and cross country, we did indeed make our tracks. However, we also made tracks by our actions in school itself: We developed our thinking process, but we also had fun. We learned, but our teachers taught us in a way that made it seem less painful. We can look back on this year and say we grew, mentally and physically.

Our field trips, participation in sports, and club activities also furthered our education. They gave us the knowledge of how to win, how to lose, what the outside world is like, experiences with leadership, and helping others. The past year gave us a chance to get to know people and make new friends. This is what school is all about. U-High is where we make our tracks.

Among those who have made tracks for a long time at U High are twelve year seniors Elise Bateman, Bill Collins (not pictured), eleven year seniors Leslie McKenzie, Holmes Cooper, and Gretchen Guedry.
Here it is, our “Tracks.” This book is yours and ours — it has something for everyone. But it could not have been done without the hard work and dedication of everyone involved. It was a brand new year with many new ideas, experiences, and people. Through our eyes you will see them all.

Throughout these pages, we have followed your tracks and captured your memories of 1985-86 so that you may turn back in the years to come and remember what U-High was to you.
