The Middle Schoolers' Choir

The Middle Schoolers' Band

Mrs. Stone tunes up. (Above) Take it from the top.

The 1980s were a time of great change and innovation in education, especially in the realm of music and the arts. The Middle Schoolers' Choir and Band were at the forefront of these changes, with Mrs. Stone leading the way.

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Stone, was a vibrant and active group, performing at various events and competitions. The band, led by the talented musicians, showcased their skills in a variety of performances, including at Christmas concerts at St. Joseph's Cathedral.

These groups were not just about music; they were a community within the school, fostering a sense of teamwork and collaboration among the students. The dedication and hard work of these students were evident in their performances, and they were a source of pride for the school.

As the school year progressed, new opportunities arose, and the choir and band continued to grow, adapting to the changing landscape of music education. The 1980s were a time of transformation, and the Middle Schoolers' Choir and Band played a significant role in this evolution.

EDITOR'S PAGE

Francois laments for photographers and photographers over, long hours of counting our pictures and writing with croppers behind us, we come at last to the end. It is difficult, if not impossible, to cram the memories of a year into 184 pages, but we have done our best. Flip through these pages now—look at the pictures, glance at the captions, and think to yourself, “How did we do a good job?”

But this is not a job we could have done alone! We owe any semblance of sanity we’ve managed to maintain this year to many people, from the Wednesday afternoon architects of the staff to the camera people among the parents and the faculty; and we would first like to thank our advisors, Mrs. McGehee and Ms. Smith, and the members of the staff: Jennifer Anse, Trisha Blount, Austin Boudreaux, Jaclyn Davis, Sunny Deakle, Margaret Eaton, Neelesh Kopp, Gayle Hesch, Emily Redman, Megan Schmidt, and Deborah Swyers. We would also like to thank Dr. Fox for his editing and Rebecca Mathews for her typing and layout work. And, finally, thanks to the many people who gave pictures to us and took pictures for us throughout the year. John Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Bofinger, Taylor Brandt, Teddy Brand, Mrs. Byrd, Mr. Crawford, Mr. Fabian, Ms. Gouillion, Corey Grinley, Ms. Chetzen, Mr. Nelson, Mrs. O’Brian, Mrs. Sala, Mrs. Sessions, and Mrs. Smith. We would also like to thank each of the elementary teachers who provided us with pictures of their classes.

The job is done. It was hard work; we hope you agree that it was worth it!
For many years the beautification of U-High and its campus remained a distant goal, talked about and wished for, but always set aside in the need of the school year. In 1993, however, the goal became a reality as students, faculty, and parents came together for one day to clean, to sand, to paint and to plant. The hard work of many people has begun a beautiful transformation that will please many eyes in years to come. Our thanks to everyone who took time out of a busy schedule to make this possible. And to our parents; not only did they work with us, but they also donated plants and supplied a variety of needs. THANKS!

relative... Uncle Sam for example.
